

2025/26 STUDENT AMBASSADOR APPLICATION

OMA&D - Multicultural Outreach & Recruitment

STUDENT AMBASSADORS

Student Ambassadors are part of the Multicultural Outreach & Recruitment (MOR) team who provide educational services to underrepresented and underserved communities. Our staff strives to ensure that students possess the knowledge and skills to be competitively eligible for higher education. We also prepare students for successful college admission and build partnerships between the UW and underrepresented students. Our overall mission is to increase the number of underrepresented students in the in-state applicant pool through programs of outreach and recruitment inspired by UW students and outreach staff.

We aim to serve students from Black/African-American, Hispanic/Latino, Native American/Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian/Pacific Islander, and Southeast Asian populations, as well as first-generation and low-income students.

Listed below are the three specialized roles within the MOR Ambassador program. You may choose to apply to one specialty or multiple.

Note: All specialties will be expected to work at outreach events. The next section will explain the general responsibilities of all MOR Ambassadors and outline corresponding responsibilities and preferred attributes for the following specialties.
